We have embraced this ideology by developing a completely paperless model. Clinicians document visits, orders, labs and supplies on a tablet and transmit that information directly to our office. This flow of information integrates seamlessly with the business side of the house, providing a unique ability to discover trends, reinforce accountability and ensure that our outcomes and process measures consistently exceed national and state averages. This model translates directly to patient care and gives us the advantage of knowing, in an instant, which patients most need our direct attention. Additionally, our doctors and referral sources have 24 hour access, via web portal, to our digital medical records adding layers of oversight and further ensuring quality patient care. This is just one example of how Team Select continues to employ unique resources which allow us to continually raise the bar in the home care environment.
