EARLY INTERVENTION FOR CHILDREN FROM BIRTH TO THEIR THIRD BIRTHDAY

TRE services and supports to help your child reach developmental goals

One in eight Colorado children are affected by some type of developmental delay or social-emotional challenge. In many cases, if they receive supports before kindergarten, they can reach their full potential.

A TRE SERVICE COORDINATOR IS ASSIGNED TO EVERY FAMILY FOR GUIDANCE AND SUPPORT AND WILL:

Work with you and your child's pediatrician, specialist, clinic, hospital, or home health to ensure needs are met

Help with successful transition to preschool when your child turns three, or seek other options if desired

Refer you to no-cost TRE classes like American Sign Language, behavior support and infant massage.

Connect you to community activities and resources, rent assistance, food providers, and more.

BASED ON WHAT IS BEST for your child and your family, our hybrid model provides parent-child coaching using a combination of in-person services within the child's home and telehealth online.

Through both methods, TRE promotes learning in comfortable and familiar settings, using your child's activities and routines as tools to learn.

Additionally, we connect parents to evidence-based classes to help build a strong social-emotional foundation for your child.

EARLY CHILDHOOD MENTAL HEALTH

TRE's Early Childhood Mental Health program is provided at no cost to foster the social-emotional development and mental health of children ages six and under.

TRE's licensed professionals consult with families, teachers, day care workers and administrators to create a positive experience in a child's formative years.

Research shows that healthy social-emotional development is foundational for children's success and can prevent school expulsions and other behavioral challenges.

97% of children in TRE's Early Childhood Mental Health programs showed an increase in positive social-emotional skills, ability to learn, and use of appropriate behaviors.

Parents and caregivers interested in extra support can receive an early childhood mental health consultation at no cost.

Contact (719) 577-9190 for more information or visit www.tre.org/services/early-intervention.
